

3. Prove that MergeSort is stable.

What a MergeSort do is divide an array to two repeatedly and then merge them after sorting. So, it isn't like Quicksort, which unluckily find the maximum or the minimum to be its pivot, then complexity of this worst case will be  $O(n^2)$ . Thus, there is no a worst case in MergeSort.